Travelling in India ...
India ... all at once mysterious and fascinating!

Initially, the desire to travel ... maybe in a different way ...

The discovery of India with so many diverse landscapes, cultures, beliefs, sensibilities, ways of living that one can imagine ... or maybe not...

Travelling in India is perhaps above all, for some of us westerners a chance to confront the unimaginable, a way to shake up our schemes, or even perhaps, to revisit in depth the way we look at the world.

That is why people call it «incredible India»!

The brochure you are holding is first of all the fruit of encounters and friendships. It is also, for us, having lived and shared unforgettable moments in India, a meaningful project to support a humanitarian cause.

Indeed, the project we propose here is to combine the discovery of India with an active support to the operation of a non-governmental organization based in Delhi.

In a spirit of sharing and responsibility for others and a desire to share our resources, we not only offer to organize your next trip to India, but also commit ourselves to allocate CHF 50.- from the cost of your trip to a non-governmental organization.

To facilitate the organization of your trip, , we offer two «discovery circuits» of 9 days : one in Rajasthan and one in Uttarakhand.

However, India is a vast country, and according to your wishes and availability, any other circuit of your choice can be organized.

Hoping that our project meets your desire to discover India, we are pleased to present the two «discovery circuit» that we offer.

Have a wonderful trip !

Ranking undoubtedly among the most popular destinations in India, the golden triangle « Delhi, Agra and Jaipur - Udaipur » attracts travelers from all around the world.

At the beginning of your journey, you will make a first immersion exploring the heritage of the capital, Delhi. You will then continue your journey towards Agra, where the subtle and enchanting forms of Mughal architecture will be revealed to you, including the wonderful Taj Mahal, the Agra Fort and Fatehpur Sikri.

You will find the sites just as stunningly beautiful when you reach Jaipur, where you will discover the Amber Palace and the Hawa Mahal, and finally Udaipur, the city of lakes, where you can admire the City Palace and Jagdish Temple.

01

After flying over the stunning terrains of the East, the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea, you will arrive in Dehli, where the lights of the city seem to extend to the horizon. It will finally be time for landing...

Welcome to Delhi!

02

When you wake up and open your eyes, you'll perhaps have the feeling of having landed on another planet; smells, sounds, people and countless cars that stir the city will make your head spin.

You will find all sorts of activities in this city of almost 10 million inhabitants!

Among which...there are many sites to discover, the Red Fort, the Jama Masjid and the Raj Gath.

For dining, guests may choose the Rajdhani, where traditional dishes from northern India are served. A real treat!

03

Delhi - Agra: 220 km - 3:30 hours by car.

Once in Agra, you may choose to dine with an Indian family (Colsharma).

In the afternoon, visit to the Taj Mahal; the seventh wonder of the world, the Agra Fort, built in 1565, and the marble tomb of It-mad-ud-Daulah, built by Empress Noor Jahan for her father. Prior to reaching to your residence, you can visit the ghost town: Fatehpur Sikri, sand built by the Emperor Ak-bar.

04

Agra-Jaipur : 240 km -four hour drive.
Once in Jaipur, begin by visiting its highlights, which includes the Amber Palace, the City Palace and the observatory of Jantar Mantar.
And finally, you would probably not reach your place of residence until you have admired the Hawa Mahal, the famous Palace of Winds, built in the 17th century.

05

Visit to Pushkar
Your itinerary continues towards Pushkar, a place of pilgrimage in Hinduism. Strolling along the city streets, entering the temples, watching the sunset over the lake at dusk will be one of many moments that will seem to belong to another time.

06

Pushkar - Udaipur: 280km - 5:00 hours by road.
At dawn you will watch the sunrise from the top of the Savitri temple. A unique moment that you will experience before starting the journey to Udaipur.
Upon your arrival in Udaipur, after lunch, you will discover sites of great beauty such as the City Palace, the Jagdish Temple, or the Jagmandir (Garden Palace).

07

After breakfast, city tour and shopping, before going to the airport to fly to Delhi. Once in Delhi, you can visit the Qutub Minar, India's highest minaret and the third largest in the world (tower of victory) which dates from 1199 as well as the tomb of Humayun, a magnificent Mughal architectural complex.

08

For this last day of your visit in Delhi, you can choose between several options, including a visit to Old Delhi, Dili Hatt, or Hauz Khas village, where you can have lunch in the vegetarian restaurant Naivedyam (restaurant serving typical dishes of south India).

09

Departure flight in the early morning.

Uttarakhand, jewel of Northern India ...

Located at the foot of the Himalayas, largely covered by tropical forests that stretch to the horizon, Uttarakhand is a part of India that is also called « Dev Bhoomi » land of the Gods.

Within its magnificent mountain ranges, whose peaks are sometimes situated at dizzying heights, lie a number of lakes and sacred rivers.

Affected by the very special ambiance in no doubt conducive to spiritual practice, travellers from around the world come on pilgrimage to Uttarakhand.

Rishikesh and Haridwar are among the most famous cities to follow the teachings of yoga masters.

01

After a beautiful flight over the clouds, mountains and seas, including the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea, it's finally time to land. Welcome to Delhi !

02

Among the outstanding sights of Delhi, you can start by visiting the tomb of Humayun (a Mughal architectural complex, a world heritage UNESCO site), the Qutb Minar tower of victory or the Gurudwara Bangla Shahib. For dining, you can stop at Rajdhani, a restaurant that is located in the center of Delhi in Connaught Place. You will discover typical North Indian dishes. A real treat!

03

Before leaving for Uttarakhand, you will visit Agra, a journey of four hour, depending on traffic. You will discover the Taj Mahal (this immense mausoleum of white marble built between 1631 and 1648 by the Mughal Emperor Shah Jahan) and the Agra Fort. For lunch, you may choose to dine with an Indian family (Colsharma). Return to Delhi on the same day.

04

At dawn, you will finally start the train journey to Uttarakhand: Delhi - Haridwar. Once you arrive at Parmath, a lunch or refreshment will be offered either in the Ashram or nearby. At 17:00, we suggest that you participate in vedic prayers at Parmath Niketan, along the banks of the Ganges.

05

An introductory Yoga course will be offered to you in the morning.

At noon, you can explore the local cuisine before taking a walk along the Ganges, between the two bridges, Ram Jhula and Laxman Jhula.

On the way back, you might want to take a chai or a coffee, before attending another ritual prayer (Pooja) in Laxman Jhula.

06

In the morning, we offer you excursions in Garhwal, a mountain region, above Rishikesh. You can visit two schools and meet the inhabitants of a village. Rice field terraces will unfold before you, and you can visit a typical village house in the area, where you will be greeted by a family for the meal.

07

After a time of relaxation beside the Ganges in Rishikesh or a ride, you will be welcomed in the Gaur's family in Bhaniyawala for a meal and refreshments before taking your flight to Delhi.

In Delhi, you can reach Connaught place by AutoRikshaw to spend the evening.

08

For this last day of your visit in Delhi, you can choose from several options, including a visit to Old Delhi, the Dili Hatt, or Hauz Khas village, where you can choose to have lunch in a vegetarian restaurant Naivedyam (restaurant serving typical dishes of south India).
